

Water pumps

Bosch offers a water pump program that provides 97-percent coverage for domestic and import cars, vans, and medium and heavy duty trucks, as well as off-highway and marine applications. According to the company, the new water pumps feature a unitized seal that protects against coolant leakage and outside contaminants; a precision-pressed hub and impeller for better performance and durability; precision-machined mounting surfaces for proper sealing; and gasket and hardware for installation. Shocks and struts

Tenneco Automotive announces the expansion of its line of Monroe Sensa-Trac and Monroe Reflex shocks and struts. The shocks and struts are now available for more than 60 million import vehicles registered in the U.S. and Canada. Sensa-Trac shocks and struts feature "prescription" construction and valve configurations — Monroe's ASD (Acceleration-Sensitive Damping) or PSD (Position-Sensitive Damping) technology to match each vehicle's ride and handling profile, according to the company. The Reflex shocks and struts offer Monroe's next-generation Reflex brass valve system, which reacts within 12 milliseconds to road impacts, the company states. Visit www.monroe.com.
