I. SUPERWINCH INTRODUCES HEAVY-DUTY EP AND EPI SERIES WINCHES

Superwinch introduces its new EP Series of self-recovery winches, offered in both integrated and non-integrated switching configurations for versatile installation and built to provide years of functional use. The EP9.0 and EP19.0 (shown) have rated line pulls of 9,000 pounds, 4.6 horsepower series-wound motors, and 125 feet of 5/16-inch diameter galvanized wire rope. All EP Series models feature sealed switching solenoids, power-in/power-out operation and include a free-spooling drum, efficient three-stage planetary gearbox and automatic mechanical brake. Installation is quick and easy with only two wires to connect.

J. MBRP ANNOUNCES NEW FILTER-BACK EXHAUST FOR FORD SUPER DUTY

Canadian company MBRP is now shipping its new filter-back exhaust systems for the 2008 Ford Super Duty 6.4L. The company's performance exhaust systems are designed to meet emissions control standards, so customers' trucks will remain state legal with no thrown codes. The systems install in under an hour and the kits come with everything needed in one box—including tips. The bolt-on design, easy-to-follow instructions and toll-free tech support ensures accuracy every time. MBRP's systems are fully mandrel bent with the lowest bend degree angles for maximum exhaust flow and minimum EGTs.
