

Company: Lincoln Industrial
Product: PMV Lubrication Pump

Lincoln's new line of PMV Lubrication Pumps features a unique, modular design that provides exceptional performance, long service life and low cost of ownership. Offered in 3-inch and 4.25-inch diameters, the air-powered PMV Pumps are available in oil and grease models for stationary installations or portable applications. The new pumps provide twice the output of standard pumps for increased life and deliver volume and pressure to handle longer hose lengths. The PMV Pumps feature smooth and quiet operation for an improved shop environment. The PMV line combines decades of Lincoln design leadership with advanced materials and manufacturing techniques to offer a superior pump with distinct advantages. Its patent-pending design features a minimum of internal components, eliminating the complexity found in other pumps and reducing the risk for breakdowns and expensive repairs. Offered in application-oriented packages, the PMV Pump kits come with everything needed to pump from oil or grease containers.

Company: Free All
Product: Deep Penetrating Oil

Every second counts in the collision repair industry. That's why having a powerful tool for freeing corroded fasteners is so important. Until recently, body shops have been unable to use conventional rust breakers because these formulas contain paint-damaging silicone. Thanks to the introduction of powerful silicone-free Free All Deep Penetrating Oil, collision repair technicians can remove even the toughest fasteners without time-intensive labor. Free All, utilizing a formulation designed specifically to outperform other commonly used rust breakers, takes labor time out of the equation by breaking through corrosion. Spray it on any corroded part and Free All's industrial-strength power will free the stuck part in seconds. The special formula is appropriate for use in all collision repair and refinishing environments. Free All is taking the body shop market by storm, quickly becoming a staple in every technician's toolbox. It's the only true professional grade, silicone-free formula available today.
